

Is Betrothed to W.C. Armstrong

Engagement Is Announced of Melinda Trafford to Arthur Terry Jr.; Whitney Warren Jr. Host Flower Sale To-day

Will Be Under Auspices of State League of Women Voters at Dodds Home

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hall Forbes, of 905 Madison Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rhoda Forbes, to William Campbell Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sinclair Armstrong, of 32 East Sixty-first Street.

Miss Forbes is a graduate of the Bresey School and a member of the Junior League. Mr. Armstrong is a graduate of Princeton, 1904, and a member of the Princeton and University clubs of New York. He served on the Mexican border with Squadron A, and in France as a lieutenant in the American army.

Whitney Warren Jr. was host at a dinner last night at Pierre's, at which he entertained Mr. and Mrs. Lydia Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Wellman and Frederick H. Osborne.

An Easter flower sale will be held to-day at the home of Chamberlain Dodds, 28 East Fifty-second Street, under the auspices of the New York State League of Women Voters. Baskets of spring flowers, corsage bouquets and roses, daffodils, jonquils and tulips by the dozen and sweet peas by the bunch may be ordered by telephoning Plaza 4700, or through the chairman, Mrs. Willis Gemmill Mitchell, or the vice-chairman, Mrs. Mabel Armstrong Tenney.

Pride-winning blossoms from the private greenhouses in the environs of New York and Easter baskets of fresh eggs from the farm of Mrs. Frank A. Vandenberg will be sold from flower laden wagons in front of Pierre's. The sale will begin at 10:30 and close at 6 o'clock to-day.

Mrs. James Laidlaw will be in charge of the tea room, and among the girls who will assist will be Miss Mary D. Strange, Miss Margaret Henn-

Miss Carolyn Frances McCoon

She will take the part of the English Maiden in "The Old Fashioned Girl" number to be given by the Catholic Junior League on Tuesday at the Hotel Plaza for the benefit of the New York Foundling Hospital. Miss McCoon is the daughter of Mrs. James Henry McCoon nessy, Miss Dorothy Jackel, Miss Antoinette McNulty, Miss Margaret McNulty and Miss Jessie Horsfall. The patronesses in the box, Frank A. Vandenberg, Mrs. Willard D. Pratt, Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Mrs. Raymond Brown, Mrs. Chester Norton, Mrs. John Clapperton Kerr, Mrs. Gordon Norrie, Mrs. George D. Pratt, Mrs. Samuel Benz, Mrs. Dexter P. Rumsey, Mrs. Charles Noel Edge, Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams, Mrs. Casper Whitney, Mrs. Richard Billings, Mrs. R. J. Caldwell, Mrs. Montgomery Hare, Miss Mary E. Dreier, Mrs. Frederick Greebe and Mrs. Henry Goddard Leach.

Among those who entertained guests at luncheon yesterday at Pierre's were Mrs. Edward H. Deinfeld, Mrs. Stephen H. Brown and P. O. Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman, who have been in New York for some time at the Ritz-Carlton, have returned to their home in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carr, of 128 East Thirty-sixth Street, have left New York for a fishing trip in Vermont and will be away over Easter.

Mrs. Edward R. Stettinius was the guest of honor at a luncheon at Sherry's yesterday given by Mrs. William Gilbert.

Among others who had luncheon parties at Sherry's yesterday were Mrs. F. Egerton Webb, Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Edward

King's Statue Suggests Christ As Royal Heir

French Gothic Conception of Jesus' Lineage Revealed Among Medieval Specimens at the Metropolitan

St. Paul Sculpture Also

Rhenish School Completes Museum's 3 Purchases

The purchase of three important examples of medieval art is announced by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. They were placed on view yesterday for the first time and include a French Gothic statue of a king, a fine sculpture of St. Paul, attributed to Claude de Werve, and a rare stained glass window of the Rhenish school, representing "The Tree of Jesse." These and other additions and new exhibits are described in detail in the April bulletin, released to-day.

The statue of a king, a fine sculpture of St. Paul, attributed to Claude de Werve, and a rare stained glass window of the Rhenish school, representing "The Tree of Jesse." These and other additions and new exhibits are described in detail in the April bulletin, released to-day.

The statue of a king, a fine sculpture of St. Paul, attributed to Claude de Werve, and a rare stained glass window of the Rhenish school, representing "The Tree of Jesse." These and other additions and new exhibits are described in detail in the April bulletin, released to-day.

Represents St. Paul

The other statue, representing St. Paul, is in flowing robes, is attributed to the school of Claus Sluter, but bears the features of his nephew and chief disciple, de Werve, who collaborated with him. The figure is of a bearded man who holds a book in his right hand, and the features are especially realistic. A new feature of the original polychrome decoration remains. The statue is from the ancient church of the Dominican convent of Proulx, a town in the Jura mountain region. It dates from the early part of the fifteenth century and is 47 1/2 inches high.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

King's Statue Suggests Christ As Royal Heir

French Gothic Conception of Jesus' Lineage Revealed Among Medieval Specimens at the Metropolitan

St. Paul Sculpture Also

Rhenish School Completes Museum's 3 Purchases

The purchase of three important examples of medieval art is announced by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. They were placed on view yesterday for the first time and include a French Gothic statue of a king, a fine sculpture of St. Paul, attributed to Claude de Werve, and a rare stained glass window of the Rhenish school, representing "The Tree of Jesse." These and other additions and new exhibits are described in detail in the April bulletin, released to-day.

The statue of a king, a fine sculpture of St. Paul, attributed to Claude de Werve, and a rare stained glass window of the Rhenish school, representing "The Tree of Jesse." These and other additions and new exhibits are described in detail in the April bulletin, released to-day.

The statue of a king, a fine sculpture of St. Paul, attributed to Claude de Werve, and a rare stained glass window of the Rhenish school, representing "The Tree of Jesse." These and other additions and new exhibits are described in detail in the April bulletin, released to-day.

Represents St. Paul

The other statue, representing St. Paul, is in flowing robes, is attributed to the school of Claus Sluter, but bears the features of his nephew and chief disciple, de Werve, who collaborated with him. The figure is of a bearded man who holds a book in his right hand, and the features are especially realistic. A new feature of the original polychrome decoration remains. The statue is from the ancient church of the Dominican convent of Proulx, a town in the Jura mountain region. It dates from the early part of the fifteenth century and is 47 1/2 inches high.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

The museum's collection of stained glass has gained distinction through the purchase of the three panels representing "The Tree of Jesse." This beautiful work, dating from about 1300, has been set up in a replica of a chapel in the town of Proulx.

John Carstensen, N. Y. Central Official, Dies

Had Been With Lines 50 Years, Rising From the Position of Office Boy to Vice-President

John Carstensen, a vice-president of the New York Central Railroad, died at his home in Scarsdale yesterday. He was sixty-seven years old and had been connected with the New York Central lines for half a century.

Mr. Carstensen was born in New York City. His early childhood was passed on the island of Santa Cruz. When he was ten years old his parents returned to the United States. The boy was educated at Cayuga Lake Academy, the Alexander Military Institute, and later at Clinton High School. He entered the employ of the New York Central as an office boy when he was seventeen years old.

He filled various minor positions in the company until 1883, when he was appointed assistant treasurer. Six years later he became controller. In 1903 he was elected vice-president of the company and was placed in charge of the accounting division.

Mr. Carstensen was widely known in transportation circles, was a founder of the Transportation Club, and was an officer or director in sixty railway companies subsidiary to the New York Central.

He married in 1877 Miss Adelaide Fisher, of New York, who, with her daughter, Mrs. J. Nelson Shreve, survived him. Besides the Transportation Club, he was a member of the Union League, American Yacht and the Sleepy Hollow Country clubs.

Antonio Zucca, seventy years old, a one-time coroner of New York City, who was president of Zucca & Co., 25 West Broadway, died yesterday at his home, 250 West Eighty-third Street, after two weeks' illness. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at the Campbell Church, Broadway and Sixty-sixth Street.

Birth, Engagement, Marriage, Death and In Memoriam Notices may be telephoned to The Tribune any time up to midnight for insertion in the next day's paper. Telephone Beckman 3000.

Deaths

RABBIT—Suddenly, April 13, 1922, Mabel Thayer, wife of Thomas A. Barrett, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

BOSCH—Peter, president of the Henry Bosch Co., 45 Fifth Ave., New York, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

BRENN—On April 12, Michael, retired from the U. S. Army, died at his home, 3748 Decatur Ave., Bronx, N. Y., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

BUEFFEL—Suddenly, Gustav C., beloved husband of Catherine (nee Dunsen), died at his home, 214 West 148th St., on Monday, April 13, 1922.

COLE—On Wednesday, April 12, Harold Wyatt Cole, husband of Martha Calender, died at his home, 49 Ellery Street, on Wednesday, April 12, 1922.

COOK—Sarah Regina Cook, widow of Edward Cook, died at her home, 625 W. 130 St., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

COLE—On Wednesday, April 12, Joseph C. Cole, husband of the late Anna C. Cole, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

CORRELL—At Cranford, N. J., April 12, 1922, Joseph P. Correli, husband of Cora Correli, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

DEANEY—Suddenly, Michael J., 530 East 100th Street, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

DOUGHERTY—On April 12, Isabella, widow of James A. and Thomas J. Dougherty, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

FINNEY—On April 12, Elizabeth, widow of John Finney, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

FULLER—At Upper Montclair, N. J., Thursday, April 12, 1922, Frederick William Fuller, beloved husband of May Fuller, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

GORDON—On April 12, Adelaide Catherine Gordon, aged 18 years, beloved daughter of John Gordon and Elizabeth Gordon, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

HANLON—Suddenly, on April 12, John, beloved husband of Nora Hanlon, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

HENNESSY—On April 12, Mrs. Ellen Hennessy, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

HOFMEIER—At Atlantic City, on April 12, 1922, Alfred H. Hofmeier, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

HOFFMEIER—At Atlantic City, on April 12, 1922, Alfred H. Hofmeier, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

HUGHES—On April 12, 1922, Leo L., beloved husband of Sadie Glue, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

KENNEDY—On April 12, Mrs. Ellen Kennedy, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

KOPELMER—At Atlantic City, on April 12, 1922, Alfred H. Hofmeier, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

Deaths

ARTHUR—Arthur, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

BUTLER—At Hackensack, N. J., April 12, 1922, Agnes Ann Butler, wife of the late Frank W. Butler, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

FEJTRUP—Sarah, widow of John Fejtrup, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

KERBER—On April 12, 1922, Charles Kerber, aged 72 years, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

KUPFER—On April 12, 1922, Charles Kupfer, aged 72 years, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

LANE—On April 12, 1922, Charles Lane, aged 72 years, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

LARSON—John Edna, beloved daughter of Dr. Henry and Mary Louie Larson, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

MAGY—On April 12, 1922, Harry J. Magy, aged 72 years, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

MARLAND—Allison W., son of Mabel D. Marland, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

MUGLYN—Thomas P., beloved husband of Emily Muglyn, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

NACH—On Thursday, April 12, 1922, Katharina Nagel (nee Fischer), aged 52 years, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

ROBINSON—Suddenly, on Thursday, April 12, 1922, in his 65th year, the Rev. Wm. Taylor, of Short Hills, N. J., died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

ROBINSON—Suddenly, on Thursday, April 12, 1922, in his 65th year, the Rev. Wm. Taylor, of Short Hills, N. J., died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

SCHER—Paul, beloved husband of Bertha Scher, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

SCHLEY—On April 12, 1922, James Montfort Schley Jr., late lieutenant, 15th Infantry, 1st Division, U. S. A., died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

SHANAHAN—Suddenly, on April 12, 1922, John Shanahan, husband of the late Catherine Shanahan, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

SHAW—On April 12, 1922, John Shaw, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

SMITH—On Wednesday, April 12, at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., died Mrs. Mary Smith, widow of William Smith, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

SNIDER—On Thursday, April 12, 1922, at Atlantic City, N. J., George W. Snider, husband of Letitia K. Snider, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

TARE—Ed, beloved wife of the late Meyer Tare and loving mother and grandmother. Services at her late residence, 245 East 121st St., Sunday, April 15, at 10 a. m.

THOMPSON—Mary S., on April 12, at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., died Mrs. Mary Thompson, widow of William Thompson, died at her home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

THURTELL—William M., on his 78th year, at St. Vincent's Hospital, Wednesday, April 12, 1922, at 2:30 p. m.

WALKER—Mary, entered into eternal rest on April 12 at her residence, 439 2d St., Brooklyn, N. Y., at 10:30 a. m.

WALKER—Mary, entered into eternal rest on April 12 at her residence, 439 2d St., Brooklyn, N. Y., at 10:30 a. m.

WHITE—Hanson, Saunders, aged 8 months 21 days, only beloved child of Adelaide Barker and Hal S. White, at St. Luke's Hospital, April 12, 1922.

WHITESIDE—Newton E., suddenly, April 12, 1922, at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., died Newton E. Whiteside, husband of Mrs. T. L. Whiteside, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

WRIGHT—On April 12, Charles, beloved brother of William Wright, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

YOUNG—On April 12, 1922, at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., died Mr. John Young, husband of Mrs. John Young, died at his home, 125 West 100th Street, East Orange, N. J., on Saturday, April 13, 1922.

THE WOODLAWN CEMETERY 231st St. Jerome of Lexington Subway. Box of View at Broadway & 231st. Telephone WOODLAWN 1180.

JOHN W. LYON 69 E. 125th St. Harlem 1375. Telephone LYON 8242.

Easter Cards for your friends in a Special Card Room at DUTTON'S 681 Fifth Avenue Opposite St. Thomas's Church

R. Altman & Co.

The Department for

Catalogue Merchandise

(on the Sixth Floor) offers many interesting possibilities for economical Easter shopping; the economy relating to expenditure of time as well as of money.

Among the items of special feminine interest at this season are the following:

Women's Dresses of navy blue georgette, at $32.50

Women's Tailored Tweed Suits, in tan or bluet mixture . . . $27.50

Misses' Dresses of navy or brown crepe de Chine; hand-embroidered . . . $29.50

Women's and Misses' Lingerie Blouses, of white French voile . . . $4.95

Smart Spring Hats (trimmed) . . . $5.50, 5.75,